

MAYSVILLE, KY., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1912.

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

LAY OF THE CARE-FREE DYNAMITE.
Give me your attention and I'll tell you of my rambles.
Here and there about the globe with torch
and dynamite,
Raising houses just to make a sort of human shambles,
Blowing careless people up to try to make them "right."
I took a train at Buffalo,
(Think it was the B. & O.)
Rode around to Niagara,
Met a man named Jim McGraw,
Showed him forty-seven sticks
Of dynamite to turn out tricks;
Blow a church and steeple down,
Then meandered from the town.
Next I went to Kansas,
Met a man named Bill McGee;
William says: "It's up to you;
Blow the bridge up—and I blow.
Westward then I chanced to roam;
Came upon an orphan's home;
Orphan had no union pas,
(Maybe, too, no-union mas)
So I takes a little bomb
Blows 'em into Kingdom Come.
Thus around the world I go Seeking something I can blow;
Nothing gives me more delight
Than to take my dynamite Light the fuse and set the clock, So's to blow up half a block."
—C. H. Maygrove in Louisville Post.

Mr. James M. Hall of Huntington, W. Va., came down Thanksgiving to enjoy a brief visit with his family.

SOCIAL EVENTS

There will be a beautiful dance this evening at the home of Mrs. George T. Hunter in Postoffice Square and a large number of the growing-up folks will trip the light fantastic.
It is a Leap Year affair given by the young ladies to the young gentlemen and it will also be a most enjoyable Thanksgiving function.

Mrs. Eugene Marx entertained the Nomads on Wednesday last with a very unique "Shake-sperean Thanksgiving Menu."

Mrs. Clarence Wood, Mrs. W. G. Lewis and Mrs. Lucien Maltby were equally fortunate in their answers, but in the drawing for the prize Mrs. Maltby's lucky star was in the ascendant and she became the happy possessor of a handsome Shakespearean calendar for 1913.

The lesson for the afternoon was most ably led by Mrs. Wood, who proved conclusively that Fletcher and not the Bard of Avon was the author of the disputed play, "The Two Noble Kinsmen."

The Club adjourned with many pleasant memories of the afternoon.

MAGNIFICENT

Was the Thanksgiving Outpouring Yesterday at the City Mission

Carload of Donations From City Schools

An army, composed of the school children of the city, captured the City Mission on Thanksgiving eve and held Mrs. Brock and Miss Hurd willing prisoners till they disposed of the bundles and packages with which they were laden.

These little "soldiers of the common good"
led by our Prof. J. W. Bradner, Superintendent of City Schools, and his corps of excellent teachers, entered most heartily into the largest offering of clothing and provisions that has ever been contributed to the city work.

One of the teachers gave each pupil an offering in money to add to the child's gift.

On last night Miss Hurd, who has charge of the young people, presented the children of the industrial schools in a most delightful and interesting Thanksgiving program. Space forbids our giving the program in full, as each number was worthy of special mention.

From the tiny tots with their very brief recitations, to the larger boys and girls in their lengthy exercises and songs there was not a flaw.

"The First Thanksgiving Day," sung by six little Puritan maidens in caps and kerchiefs was very charming.

Probably the best bit of comedy was a recitation of "Pumpkin Pie," in which a real piece of pie figured conspicuously.

It was a happy evening for both parents and children who feel that Miss Hurd's coming to Mayeville was one of their greatest blessings this passing year.

SPECIAL OFFER!

All new subscribers and all those paying up past dues for THE PUBLIC LEDGER, and who pay $5, one year's subscription, cash, will be given the paper from now until January 1st, 1914.

Tailored Shirtwaists, $1.25

Mr. Hunt has sent us some Tailored Shirtwaists of snowy white madras in several smart models. One has broad tucks down the front, fastening in the center plait with three handsome pearl buttons. Another has a stylish touch of embroidery, so closely resembling handwork only an expert could detect the difference. There are several other designs equally attractive. Each shirtwaist has a soft collar which is detachable and can be replaced with a laundered collar if desired. Splendid values for the price—be sure to see them.

One Dollar Serge

We have a hard time keeping it in stock. We order enough for a month's selling and in half that time a re-order must be sent. Plenty now in black and navy. Every one tells us it is an unprecedented value.
There is no fabric more used this season and our $1 quality answers every requirement of super-good serge —weight, width, rich color, wear-resisting weave, dust and rain shedding surface.

Comparative Hosiery

Don't treat our assertion that we sell THE BEST HOSIERY as an empty boast. We not only want you but invite and urge you to make comparisons.
Take value for value, our Ten, Fifteen, Nineteen and Twenty-five Cent Stockings for Women, compare them critically with hosiery bought elsewhere and if we don't command your stocking trade it's because you can't recognize hosiery value.
